Do you also aim for optimal technical results of your broiler breeders, low mortality and healthy offspring? Group Depre helps you choose the right feeding strategy based on age and laying curve in order to achieve optimal results.

Every company with broiler breeders is different (differences in breed, climate conditions, available raw materials, disease pressure...). Group Depre therefore also offers various feeds (complete feeds and concentrates) and feeding schedules. The aim is to perfectly meet the needs of the broiler breeder at all times, depending on age and laying curve.

To meet the specific needs of the customer, the Depre concentrates are optimized specifically for each customer, with their ingredients. The concentrates and complete feeds contain a balanced amount of protein, energy, amino acids, vitamins, minerals and additives to promote a top egg production, good laying persistence, maintenance of shell quality, low mortality among the hens and above all a healthy offspring.

Examples of different concentrates possible for broiler breeders:

		Breeder 5% conc	Breeder 10% conc	Breeder 20% conc	Breeder 35% conc	Breeder 50% conc
Corn	%	67	65	63	56	42
Soybean meal 46% CP	%	15	12	7	1	0
Wheat bran	%	5	5	2	0	0
Limestone	%	8	8	8	8	8
Concentrate	%	5	10	20	35	50
Total	%	100	100	100	100	100

Example of 10% concentrate for the whole laying cycle:

		Rearing	Pullet	Pre-lay	Breeder 1	Breeder 2
Age		0 - 9/10 weeks	10 - 17 week	17 - 21 weeks	21 - 35 weeks	> 35 weeks
Corn	%	54	57	58,5	64	66
Soybean meal 46% CP	%	17	6	8,5	13	12
Wheat bran	%	17	25	20	5	3
Limestone	%	2	2	3	8	9
Concentrate	%	10	10	10	10	10
Total	%	100	100	100	100	100

To achieve an optimal start of the rearing period, Depre advises to start with a complete feed in crumble for the first 3 to 4 weeks. A crumble feed ensures a good absorption and therefore a smooth start.
